A group of five young people, three men and two women, are posed closely together, wearing vibrant winter jackets and beanies. They are making various playful and expressive faces: one man has his eyes closed and a pouting mouth, another man looks serious, a woman in the background has a surprised expression with her hand near her mouth, a woman in the middle is blowing a kiss, and a man in the foreground is smiling broadly. The background is a plain, light blue sky.

A young child with Down syndrome is the central focus of the image. The child has light brown hair with bangs and two pigtails, each adorned with a large white fabric flower. They are wearing a blue and white horizontally striped long-sleeved shirt. The child is hanging from a bright yellow play structure, with their arms extended outwards. The background is a soft-focus blue and green, suggesting an outdoor play area. In the top right corner, there is a green rectangular box containing the text 'DVE' and 'Deutscher Verband Ergotherapie'. The main text 'Für mehr Leben im Leben.' is overlaid in the lower half of the image, and the website 'www.dve.info' is in the bottom right corner.

The background of the entire page is a silhouette of a person in a wheelchair, seen from behind, with their arms raised in a gesture of triumph or freedom. They are positioned on a rocky outcrop, looking out over a body of water under a bright orange sunset sky. The person is wearing a cap and a dark shirt. The wheelchair is a standard manual model with large rear wheels and smaller front wheels.
